TRAVEL AGENTS ARE ECONOMIC DRIVERS

Travel agents – online, “brick and mortar” and many hybrid business models in between – play a critical role in the broader travel and tourism industry.

In 2015, travel agents processed 155 million trips representing $148 billion of total travel sales.

Agencies are responsible for the sale of the majority of airline tickets in the U.S., selling over 430,000 air tickets daily.

More than 25 percent of U.S. travelers reported using a leisure or corporate travel agent in 2015.

Travel agencies are predominantly small businesses, with 70 percent employing fewer than 5 people.

TRAVEL AGENTS ARE IN YOUR COMMUNITY

The travel agency industry in the United States is a vital part of the transportation infrastructure. While the physical elements of travel include planes, trains, cars, hotels, cruises and tours, it is the travel agent that makes it all happen.

Travel agents vary in size from the smallest home-based agent to storefront agencies in every state and Congressional district to the large travel management companies such as Carlson Wagonlit to household-name online agencies like Expedia. Together, they account for an annual payroll output of $5.5B and annual revenues of $17.7B.
